

Histogram

Facts

A histogram is a special bar chart which is used to display continuous data.

The bars touch and the bars are labelled at the end of each bar.

The bars do not need to be an equal width if the class widths are not equal – the height of the bar is labelled frequency density (Higher GCSE only).

